Ryefield Reads: Story Sheds

Eagle eyed visitors may have spotted our new Story Sheds which, earlier this month, appeared in the school hall. We are introducing Story Sheds as an exciting way to encourage your child to read - and have an endless supply of free books. There is only one condition: if they want to take a book, they have to swap it with one brought from home. This might be a book they have outgrown, or no longer read at home.

Children can change their books as many times as they wish, they can even return a book they swapped earlier in the week. If they love the book that they have chosen, then they can keep it forever, and make further swaps with another book.

We think it is a brilliant idea to foster a love of books and reading an limitless amount of literature for literally nothing.

Adults fear not! One shed will be situated at the front of the school - near the main reception and books for parents and adults in the wider community will be stored there. So if you have some exciting thrillers, crime capers, horror stories or romantic sagas feel free to add them to the shed.

So if you intend on undertaking a spring clean over the Easter break or apply a Marie Kondo approach to minimising clutter - please feel free to add to our collection or pre-loved books for children or adults. Donations gratefully received and can be left at main reception.

Flower Festival

Thank you to everyone who donated flowers for our annual festival of everything floral! My personal highlight is accompanying the children around the local area to deliver the bouquets to our elderly residents. Our children are such wonderful ambassadors.

We have received some lovely comments, here is my current favourite:

To Staff and Children at Ryefield, Thank you very much for the lovely flowers yesterday which the children delivered after their flower service. It is always lovely to see their smiling faces and having a little chat.

Hope everyone has a lovely Easter holiday.

*Kind regards
